

Moonstar 11.7.26 Meeting

Exercise 1, 'Moon Water':

Reach to the river of moonlight, let it flow as it glows to the middle of earth.

Exercise 2, 'The Animal Colour Lights':

- a) What is your favourite colour? What are three deep reasoning why eg. My favourite colour is Teal because it feels mysterious, peaceful and latent to me.

A "latent meaning" is an underlying message or intent that is present but not immediately obvious or openly expressed. Derived from the Latin latere (to lie hidden), it refers to a hidden layer of significance.

- b) What is your favourite form of light? What are three deep reasons why eg. My favourite form of light is the moon because it represents a world where imagination can fill in the blanks of what the sunshine would light up clearly in daytime.
- c) What is your favourite animal and what are three deep reasons why? Eg. My favourite animal is a butterfly because its transformation from Caterpillar is so striking, magnificent and patient.

Exercise 3, 'Rearranger Magic':

I will give each of you a phrase – as a team, decide on an order to stand in to make up a sentence with the phrases allocated to you! Can you think of a melody for your group sentence?

I: 'Mirrors Tell Lies'

II: 'I'm a Puppeteer'

III: 'One Day like this a year'

IV: 'Oshiete, oshiete yo sono shikumi wo'

VI: 'In the Prophecy'

Here is how to pronounce it:

- Oshiete: oh-shee-eh-teh
- Oshiete: oh-shee-eh-teh
- yo: yoh
- sono: soh-noh
- shikumi: shee-koo-mee
- wo: woh (pronounced just like "oh") [\[1\]](#)

- Further Examples: Choosing a tiger as a favorite animal often reflects a deep admiration for raw power, untamed independence, and majestic beauty. Psychologically, people who connect with tigers are frequently drawn to their balance of fierce strength and solitary grace, symbolizing a desire to live authentically and unapologetically.

Dogs: They offer unconditional social support and possess an innate ability to read human emotions,
